

MORNING LEADER

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 9, 1893.

To the Medical Profession of Ohio:
Office Surgeon General of Ohio
Columbus, June 25, 1893.

By order of the Governor, the board of Medical Examiners will meet in this city on Tuesday, the 7th of July, for the examination of Surgeons and Assistant Surgeons, to fill existing vacancies, and supply any regiments about to be organized. At least one hundred and thirty will be required to meet this demand.

Those who have already gone forth have been successful in their profession, and bright hopes. When they come back to civil life, they will bring a rich experience, that a lifetime in private practice could not have earned. Will you prepare for an honorable competition by entering the same field? Their thinned ranks have thus far been filled by those who have well sustained the credit of our Medical Staff.

Those for whose State we are fighting are being made for our country in the regiment of this life struggle. It has taken its part with the army in all its privations, of the pestilential miasm, and even the battle field; and noble lives have paid the tribute. Some have died by the side of those to whom they were administering; some, broken down in health, have returned home to regain strength that they may return to their labors; some by the shameless violation of the recognized laws of war, have tasted the horrors of a rebel prison; but in all these trials they have won a higher name.

This is not the hour to take counsel of selfishness, but the day for sacrifices.
Others have made them for us for the cause, for the great future. Let their noble example stir you to earnest decision, call you into line, and there record your names on the same scroll of honor.

Maintain your loyalty to the great law of your Profession—a minister of mercy amid the carnage of battle. In all other departments of the service the draft may fill their thinned ranks. Standing faithful by your "traditions dear and old," let your name be ever borne, continue a self-sacrificing soldier. To the Medical Profession of Ohio, the State commits her sick and wounded soldiers, with a trust that has never yet failed.

S. M. SMITH,
Surgeon General.

The Press of the State will confer a great favor by publishing the above.
